BOLTS AND NUTS

When the masterful Miss Rebecca Bolt, (Bertine Cook) whose hobby is psychoanalysis, inherits a spooky old mansion from an eccentric brother, she turns it into a sanitarium for patients with phobias and nervous diseases, much to the dismay of her niece Benita (Alice Schafer). Whereupon, the nuts start to pour in, and the fun begins in earnest. Lutie Spinks (Bonnie Cook), the man-hating maid, has a nervous habit of winking that gets her into trouble with flirtatious men patients. Gertie Glossop (Hildegard Simon), has a contagionphobia and all but asphyxiates everybody else with her various spraying machines. Cadwalleder Clippy (Harold Simon) has a catphobia and is frightened nearly out of his wits by the pet cat of malicious little Wilber, (Daniel Schafer) a problem child. Prunella Figg (Lorraine Cook) suffers from claustrophobia. Martha Grubb (Jeanne Bushong), the cook, fairly wallows in melancholy, and Plunkett, (Andrew Alexander) the foxy family lawyer, develops a persecution complex, while Henry (Wm. Bushong), the darky porter, harbors a natural fear of lunatics and all their works. Even Twink Starr (Bill Jandernoe), Benita's young man, whose suit is tabooed by Rebecca, joins the company of nuts in disguise, parading an acute case of delusions of grandeur, in hope of finding a chance to soften the hard heart of Rebecca. Hilarious situations develop with the arrival of Dr. Hippocrates Joy (Eugene Cook), a synthetic psychiatrist, who under takes to cure the patients. Jack Gordon (Norbert Fox) later takes charge of Dr. Joy.
